We find the opinion is quite prevalent that the lunary of Gerrit Smith is feigned. We can not fall in with this opinion. It seems to us that his conduct for the last ten or fifteen years has been such as to convince any one that he was not exactly a person of sound mind. Although, perhaps, perfectly sound on all other subjects, his munia for negroes has been such that he has given away small farms to as many of them as choose to take them to as many of them as choose to take them-he has lavished his hospitality upon them, but to all others, who, in their name, might undertake any scheme of philanthropy or

We have seen him, sometimes presiding, and sometimes occupying an humble seat, in the so-called "conventions" of his colored breth-"Brother Jones," &c., and not only paying the most obsequious deference to their opinions, but paying also their bills, and seeming to reliable the thing without the least approach to satisfy

Gerrit Smith is naturally too bold and too Gerrit Smith is naturally toe bold and toe honest a man to resort to any such pretence, even to save his own life; if, indeed, his life was in danger. The constant straining of his mind over the subject which has engrossed his attention for so many years, and especially ever since he resigned his seat in Congress in August, 1854, has been sufficient to render any person non compose mentis; and the recent exposure of his complicity with Brown has probably produced the climax of his malady.

TRUE RELIGION. George William Curtis, in "ecent lecture, expressed this eloquent sentiment

I call John Howard a religious man; I call Miss Dix a religious woman; I call the great body who, in the love and hope of humanity everywhere, have fought the great fight with slavery, with intemperance, with any social sin, a religious body. I call the spirit which plucks abandoned orphans from the slums of great cities and makes them men; which takes poor, starving heaitating girls and makes them women; which gives meat to the hungry, and drink to the thirsty; which clothes the naked, whits the sick and the prisoner, and opens its doors to the fugitive from every land,—the its doors to the fugitive from every land,—the spirit which is more prompt to do the will of God than to celebrate his perfections; who believes that the service of faith is not in saybelieves that the service of faith is not in saying, "How thankful I am!" but in doing the will of the Father—you may call it by what name you will, you may crown it with the thorns of superstitious contempt—I call it a religious spirit. The great heart of the age, beating through all its busy life, and with that love of God which is perfect liberty, responds from its homes, its workshops, its teaming fields, from its struggles, its hopes, its faith, its despairs, almost—"Not he that creath Lord! Lord! hut he that doath the that crieth Lord! Lord! but he that doeth the will of the Father."

A COMPLICATED ROW IN NEW ORLHARS.-The New Orleans correspondent of the St. Louis Republicas writes in a recent letter:

Theorigin of a large majority of street brawls and afrays is of no greater importance than that of one which occurred yesterday, in which a man named 6—— struck a mad named J—— with a loaded cane, and received in return a pistol bullet, which will probably in due time terminate his earthly existence. The quarrel was all about a mulatte woman, the mother of was all about a mulatte woman, the mother of children, though how it arose, or what it was for, is of no consequence. A few years ago the same J— ruined a young girl, and was compelled by her brother-in-law to possess. her. He was just about going on board a conduct, when the brother-in-law intercepted him, and, with pistol presented, forced him to return and espouse the girl, whom, however, he soon deserted and slandered most infay, and was then compelled, by the puganicions brother-in-law, to sign an exceedingly humiliating document, confessing himself a liar and calquinator. He returned to the former dusky partner of his bosom, who sometime afterward cowhided him in the street for some offense he had given her. Such occurrences are all the more harrowing to the nerves of decently disposed people, when, as in this case the persons concerned occupy positions which should make them respectable members of society.

GRESON ON JOHN BROWN .- In a recent Betare, in Boston, on courage, Ralph Waldo Emerson, after alluding to the heroes of other times and other lands, who, "as soon as they are born, take a bee line to the rack of the Inquisition or the ax of the tyrant," said, Inquisition or the ax of the tyrant," said, "Look nearer, at the ungathered records of those who have gone to languish in prison or to die in rescuing others, or in rescuing themselves from chains of the slave; or look at that w saint, than whom none purer or more ave was ever led by love of man into conflict id death; a new saint, waiting yet his mar-adom; and who, if he shall suffer, will make gallows glorious like a cross.

FATAL SHOOTING APPRAY IN LOUISVILLE,— Saturday afternoon an altereation occurred in Levi's livery stable, in Louisville, Ky., between two men John Nethercott and John Dorsey, who were interested in a lot of horses. They afterward walked up street and ongaged in varrelsome conversation; Dorsey attacked Nathercott, struck him with a bottle over the head, knocked him down and then beat him severely. During this encounter two pistol ahots were fired by Nethercott, one charge entering Dorsey's head, just over the eye, infleting a horrible wound, and the other passing through his left hand, wounding him fatally.

RAVAGES OF TYPHOID FRVER IN PENNSYL-VANIA.—We recently mentioned that typhoid fover was raging in some of the eastern por-tions of the State. We have since learned that it has proved very fatal in some locali-ties. In Berks County thirty-five persons who had fallen victims to the disease were uried in one graveyard, in the course month. In Myerstown entire families have died out with this fistal disease, and but a few families in the village have entirely escaped is ravages.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

ORIGINAL COSTUME.—A letter from Genaives, Hayti, says: "Out in the suburbs of the town saw an unique and characteristic costume, worn by a boy ten years of age. It consisted of ah old battered up tin can, suspended around his neek by a piece of native rope, which was made out of a cocoa tree bark, or some similar material. His only other garment consisted of a stick, which he held in his hand, and with which, from time to time, he beat his novel substitute for a drum and wardrobe." 1 2005

PRO-SLAVERY VIGILANCE COMMITTEES. ligilance Committee has been formed in arbour County, Va., and rumor says that all Abolitionists are sarnestly invited to leave the county in thirty days. In Alabama a similar warning has been given at all the "crossed" places on Brown's map, and committees are forming in every direction.

A COCKNEY'S OPINION OF NIAGARA .- An English cockney as the falls of Niagara, when asked how he liked the falls, replied: "They're 'ansome, quite so, but they don't hanswer my hexpectations; besides, I got thoroughly vetted and lost me 'at. Hi prefer to lock at 'em in an hingravin, in 'ot weather and hin the 'ouse."

The Religion of the Future.—Dr. Holland (Timothy Titcomb.) expresses himself freely upon this theme, and we have always thought what he says will be verified. There is a time coming when all the sects which now divide Christendom will be melted into one. Nothing but the blotting out of Christianity can hinder it. My Presbyterian friend has his fragmentary ideal of Christ, my Episcopal friend another; my Roman Catholic friend another, and so on, through Baptists, Methodists, Universalists, and all the rest; but as the Christian world's ideal of Christ advances, and he is apprehended in something of the fulness of his being and character, will the world's theologies approach each other? They must do so, and they are doing so to-day. The best evidence in the world that Christianity is advancing is found in the fact that the walls between the zeots are growing weaker, or fall—Metig.

At Salisbury, it is presumed, he took the wrong sud of the railroad, and, so far as we are informed, he has not since been heard of. No doubt be has absconded, carrying off a large amount of money. Mr. Glass has always been considered an honorable, upright man and a good citizen.

Solomon Ray, the Sheriff of Yancy County, has also absoonded. He came to Raleigh in ductime to settle his tax account; but a few weeks ago he left home to attend Court in Madison County, and has not been heard from since. AN ORSCORE VILLAGE FAMOUS AND FORGOT TEN IN A FORWARGHY.—The people of Charles-town never had a telegraph office located in their midst, and had never heard the short "click, click," of the instrument until the John Brown affair occurred to bring their town into notice. Then the metropolitan press extended lines there from Harper's Ferry, and an operator was sent on to open an office. Charle was then brought into communication with New York. But as soon as Old Brown's trial was concluded, and the sentence of death passed upon him, there seemed to be no necessity for the telegraph, and so the operator closed the office and departed, leaving the people of Charlestown naught but the memory of the past importance of their village.

SUICIDE ON ACCOUNT OF MATRIMONY .- In SUIGIDE ON ACCOUNT OF MATRIMON.—In Pittsburg, Penn., on Saturday evening, a young man, Francis Gilbert, died in his room at the Girard House, from the effects of an overdose of morphene administered by himself. Deceased was twenty-six years of age, and the son of a wealthy Philadelphia druggist, was married in April last to a young widow in Philadelphia. He became quite dissipated after his marriage, and the rife sipated after his marriage, and his wife re-fused to live with him. He went to Pitts-burg, and in Jane last obtained employment as a brakesman on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, which post he held un-til a short time before his death. Difficulty with his wife is assigned as the cause of his SUBPECTED POISONING OF AN OLD HUBBAND BY A Youne Wips.—Unusual interest was excited at Canton, Mass., Thursday, in consequence of the exhumation of the body of James Shala, by order of the coroner. Some ten months before Shala, aged fifty, married a young lady of seventeen, and about seven weeks after he was seized with illness, and died the eighth day. Some dared to suggest suspicions of poison, and stories involving the charaster of the young wife were put in circulation. The physicians had not, at last accounts, determined whether Shala and died of poisen or diguet of matrimony. This story has a moral for all old simpletons who wed young spouses. They are doomed to pain if they submit, and to poison if they rebel.

REVOLVERS VS. ROMANCE.—The Paris cor-respondent of the New York Express writes in a late letter: An English friend of mine is in a late letter: An English friend of mine is in love with a charming but very coquettish Parisienne. Thinking to croke her tender interest in his welfare, he recently paid her a visit, told her he was going to join Garibaldt and die in the Italian cause, and came to say good-by. "Stop a moment, then," replied the lady. She left the room, and presently returned, holding in her fair hand a revolver. "As you are going to fight for Italy," said she, "take this souvenir from me. It is a six-barreled revolver—a very dangerous weapon. Mind you don't hurt yourself with it!" The Englishman left.

PECULIAR MODE OF SWINDLING. method of swindling has been tried quite suc-cessfully in Philadelphia. The honey is ex-tracted from the comb, and the cells filled with sugar. the public three seasons, and owing to its popularity and increased demand, we have been compelled to make two more sizes—having Si X sizes complete, suitable from the smallest family up to the largest class boarding-house. The celebrity these stoves have gained for themselves oan not be too highly appreciated, as every family having them in use can truly testify.

Thanking the public for their generous support, it is our determination to supply the wants of the community with the benefits which a practical mechanical education can only supply.

We beg leave, most vespectfully, to offer the follow-inv certificates and references of families using the Alligator, which will, at a gimice, venove all doubles of its intrinsic smeries.

For some mouths I have been using the Alligator Coal Cooking Stove. Its superior cooking qualities, combined with its cleanliness, most eventually secture to the owners a large share at public patronase.

I have been using one of Messra Adams & Peck.
